Vermont
Community Foundation

COMPONENT FUNDS

COMPONENT FUNDS: 2007

Gifts to the Vermont Community Foundation come from several sources: from individuals and families, both during their lifetimes and via bequest, and from private foundations, corporations, and nonprofit organizations. With their gifts, many donors create and build charitable funds within the VCF for a wide range of purposes. All of these component funds help the VCF achieve our desired goal of sparking philanthropy, increasing its effectiveness, and fueling its growth for the good of Vermont.

The Foundation currently hosts over 525 funds. When a fund is established the donor names the fund and defines its purpose. Many funds bear the donor's name; others are anonymous, while some are identified as memorials or have a designated recipient organization. The VCF offers various fund types to help donors achieve their philanthropic goals. Included in the total number of funds, but not listed here, are over 80 planned gifts, such as Charitable Remainder Trusts and Charitable Gift Annuities.

Following is a list of all the Foundation's component funds as of December 31, 2007.

An important note: Nine of the listed component funds offer competitive grants for Vermont nonprofit organizations seeking support. Grantseekers are encouraged to visit www.vermontcf.org to learn about specific guidelines and deadlines for submitting proposals. If you have further questions about funding eligibility, please contact the VCF staff.

SUPPORTING FOUNDATIONS

“Supporting Foundations,” affiliated under special provisions of Section 509(a)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, support charitable programs that advance the general mission of the “supported” public charity, in this case, the Vermont Community Foundation. The VCF offers this form of charitable partnership as a cost-efficient and tax-wise alternative to private foundations for individuals and families seeking the feel of a private foundation but in partnership with the community foundation’s expertise and community knowledge. Each VCF-stewarded supporting foundation retains its distinct identity, including separate legal status, governing boards, and investment management. Benefits include favorable tax treatment and exclusion from various restrictions placed on private foundations, access to VCF staff services, and a greater governance role.
